CYBER INSURANCE

Your cyber renewal form, question by question.

The security questions a proposal form asks, in plain words. For each one: what a yes should rest on, and the evidence the Secured and proven programme leaves you. Where there is none, the evidence pack says so.

> This sheet is not insurance advice. FourWinds does not advise on cover or insurers and does not fill in proposal forms. Your insurer's form and its definitions decide what each question means, and your broker advises you on cover.

> Before you sign. The Consumer Insurance Contracts Act 2019 asks you to answer each question honestly and with reasonable care. That applies if the business turned over €3 million or less last financial year and, if a company, is not in a group that turned over more in total. A careless wrong answer lets the insurer pay less on a claim, or refuse it if it would not have insured you on the truth. For a larger business, the duty is wider: ask your broker before you sign. Either way, answer from dated evidence.

THE QUESTION	WHAT A YES SHOULD REST ON	AFTER SECURED AND PROVEN
Two-step sign-in Is a second step required for email, remote access and admin accounts?	Enforced, not only offered, on every staff account and on any VPN or remote desktop. On Chubb's form, a VPN or a shared key does not count as a second step; check your own form's definition.	CHECKED A dated export from your admin console showing it enforced on every account. STATED Remote access: your statement.
Backups Are backups kept apart from your systems, and has a restore been tested?	Automatic backups, a copy your main login cannot reach (offline, immutable or a separate account), and a test restore, with its date.	CHECKED The dated restore log or a screenshot of it. STATED That backups run and are kept apart: your statement.
Email security Is your domain protected against forged email (spoofing), and is incoming email filtered?	SPF ending -all or ~all, DMARC at quarantine or reject on all mail (p=none asks receiving mail servers to do nothing with mail that fails the check), and incoming mail filtered.	SEEN Closed only by a later scan that passes (DKIM too, on Microsoft 365), kept two years with its date and hash. STATED Filtering: your statement.
Incident plan Is there a written incident response plan, and when was it last tested?	A written plan naming who decides, who calls the insurer and who tells the Data Protection Commission, and a dated practice run.	CHECKED The plan itself, and the date of its practice run (a tabletop exercise), with notes on what will change.
Updates and devices Are security updates applied, and is anti-malware or EDR on every device?	Updates applied on a schedule you can show, no unsupported software, and protection on every laptop, desktop and server.	STATED Your dated answers, labelled in the pack as yours. A scan cannot see inside your devices.
Staff training Do staff have security or phishing training at least once a year?	A session or phishing exercise for everyone, with its date and who took part.	STATED Your dated answer, labelled as yours. Training is not part of the programme.

In the pack, each item is labelled by its proof: SEEN a FourWinds scan, cited with its date
CHECKED "a document dated ..., checked by FourWinds" STATED "Stated by the business", with its date

No account needed. Answer a few questions, and FourWinds looks at your website and email from outside, down to whether email forged in your name is refused or sent to spam. Secured and proven then puts two-step sign-in, a tested backup restore, protection against forged email and an incident plan in place as one programme, quoted for you. It ends with a second scan and a dated evidence pack for your broker.
