SALON BOOKING AND TILL

Booking and the till, on your salon's own website.

Clients book and pay a deposit online, the diary leaves the stylist free while colour develops, and each day's takings go to Xero or QuickBooks.

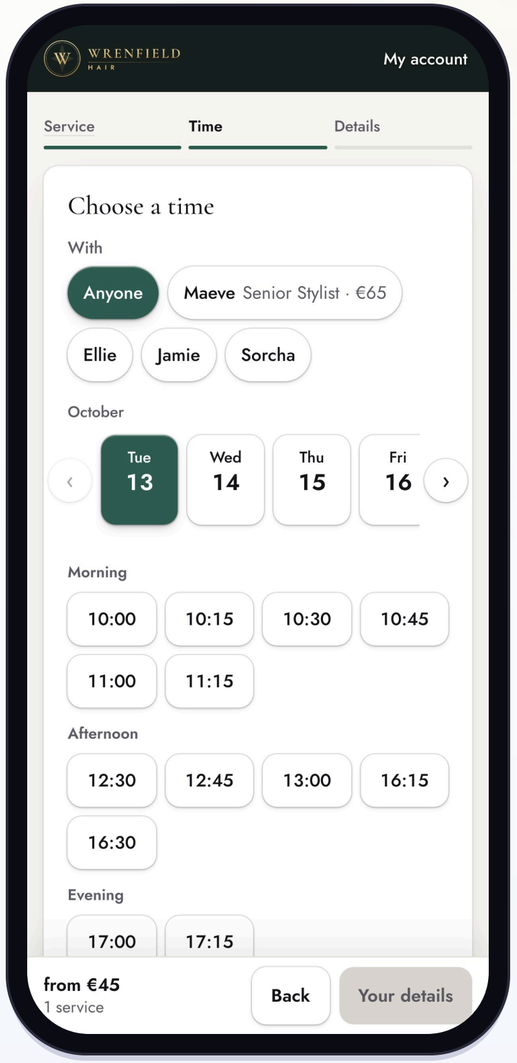

WRENFIELD HAIR, A MADE-UP SALON

THE CLIENT'S SIDE

Clients book on your own website.

- A booking page on your own web address, in your colours, logo and typeface
- Prices by stylist level, so the client chooses who with
- Deposits taken by card on the services you choose
- A card kept on file, for the no-show and late-cancellation fees your policy states
- Clients add the page to their phone's home screen and book again in two taps

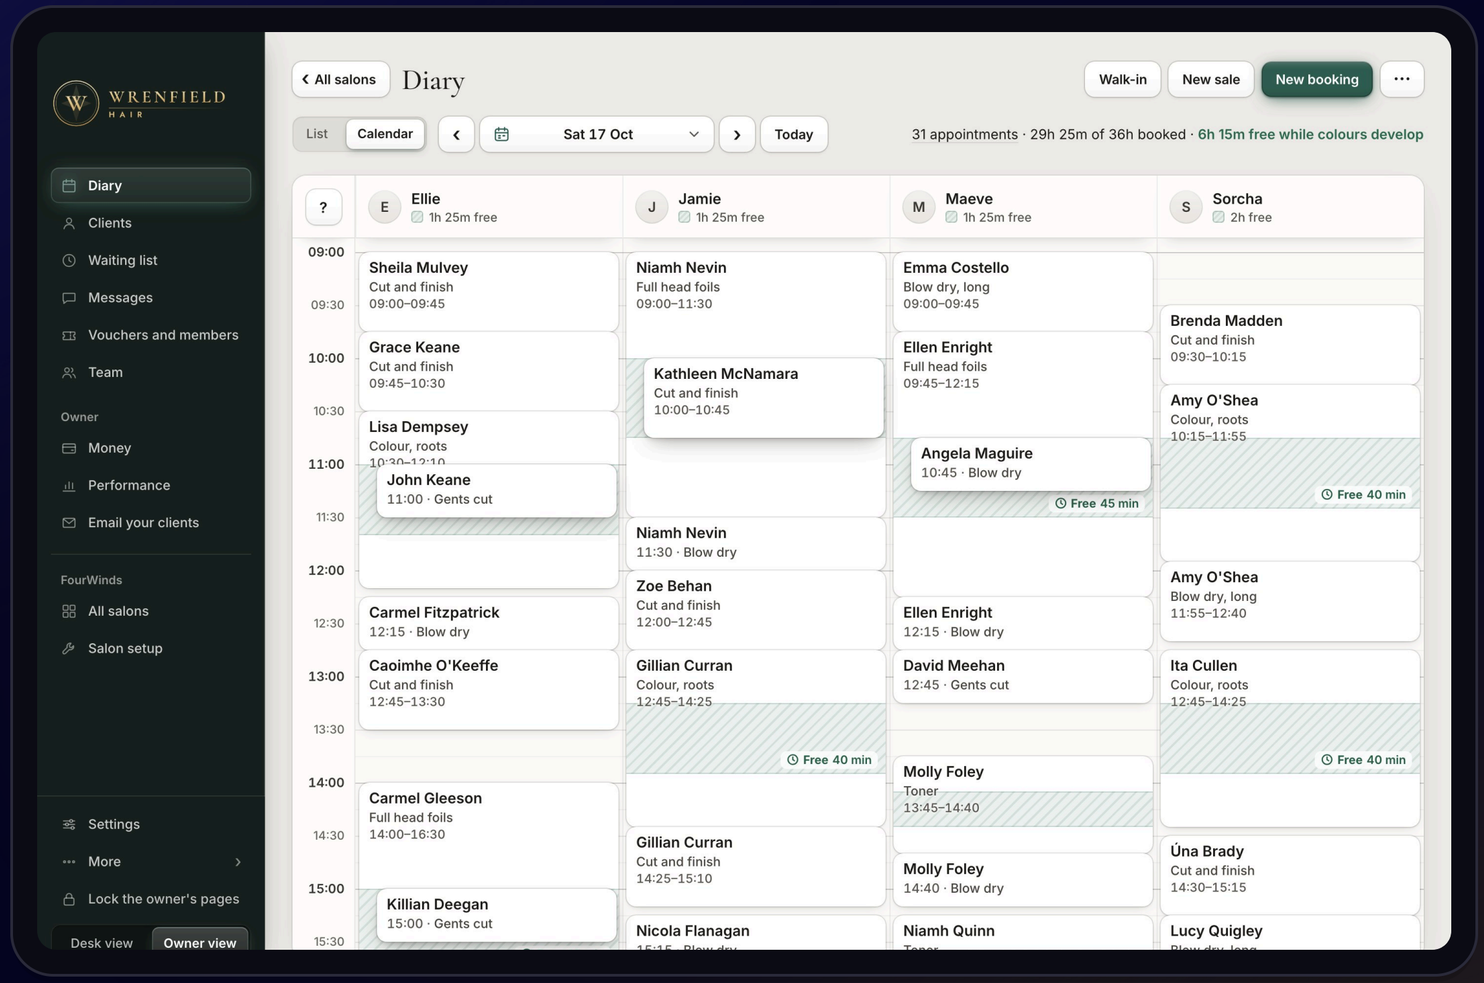

WRENFIELD HAIR, A MADE-UP SALON

THE SALON'S SIDE

The diary leaves stylists free while colour develops.

Hatched time is colour developing. The stylist can take another client in it.

The day's colour waiting time is counted at the top, so it can be sold.

Booked in, patch test needed, and the reminder, in your salon's name.

Texts and WhatsApp start once your salon's text account is set up.

SAMPLE TEXTS, MADE-UP CLIENT

THREE SYSTEMS, ONE SALON

A screen for each part of the salon.

For clients

The booking page

Clients book on your own website, pay a deposit, add the visit to their calendar, and get confirmations and reminders in your salon's branding.

For reception

The front desk

The diary, phone bookings with the client found by name, mobile or email, walk-ins, the waiting list, the check-in kiosk and the till.

For the owner and manager

The owner's pages

Money, performance, commission, the payroll file, ad clicks and email campaigns.

Stylists have their own page too, with their own day.

THE DESK AND THE OWNER

One tap between the desk and the owner.

Front desk or owner

One switch on the salon's screens. The front desk never sees the money.

Your colour and logo

The back office in your salon's own colour and logo.

Find the client

Phone bookings find the client by name, mobile or email.

Walk-ins

Put straight into the diary at the desk.

Discounts

A percentage or an amount in euro, never more than the services.

Services on set days

A service offered only on the days you choose, such as student cuts Tuesday to Thursday.

Email campaigns

To clients who said yes, in your salon's branding, with an unsubscribe line.

Ad clicks

The ad a booking came from, on the owner's screens.

FOR THE DESK AND THE TEAM

Everything the day needs, on one screen.

The till

VAT at the rate for the date, a card reader, and retail with stock levels.

Colour formulas

Products, shades, developer and timings kept on every visit.

Patch test records

On the client's record, with a reminder when one is due again.

Stylist app

Each stylist signs in with a PIN and sees their own day.

Rota and time off

Shifts, holidays and bank holidays, and the diary follows them.

Check-in kiosk

Clients check themselves in at the door on a tablet.

The right screen each

Reception books and takes payment; the takings stay with the owner.

Messages

Offers, rebooking nudges and review requests, to clients who said yes.

FOR THE OWNER

The business side, done for you.

Your numbers

Takings, bookings and how busy each stylist was, on your own screen.

Staff pay

What each person is owed, commission included, ready for payroll.

Xero or QuickBooks

Each day's takings sent across, ready to match the bank.

No-show protection

Deposits and a card on file, charged only under your own policy.

Memberships and loyalty

Plans and loyalty points, used at the till.

Several sites

One account, each site with its own hours, team and booking link.

Your own email

Confirmations and reminders come from your salon's own address.

Never locked in

All your records in one download, whenever you want them.

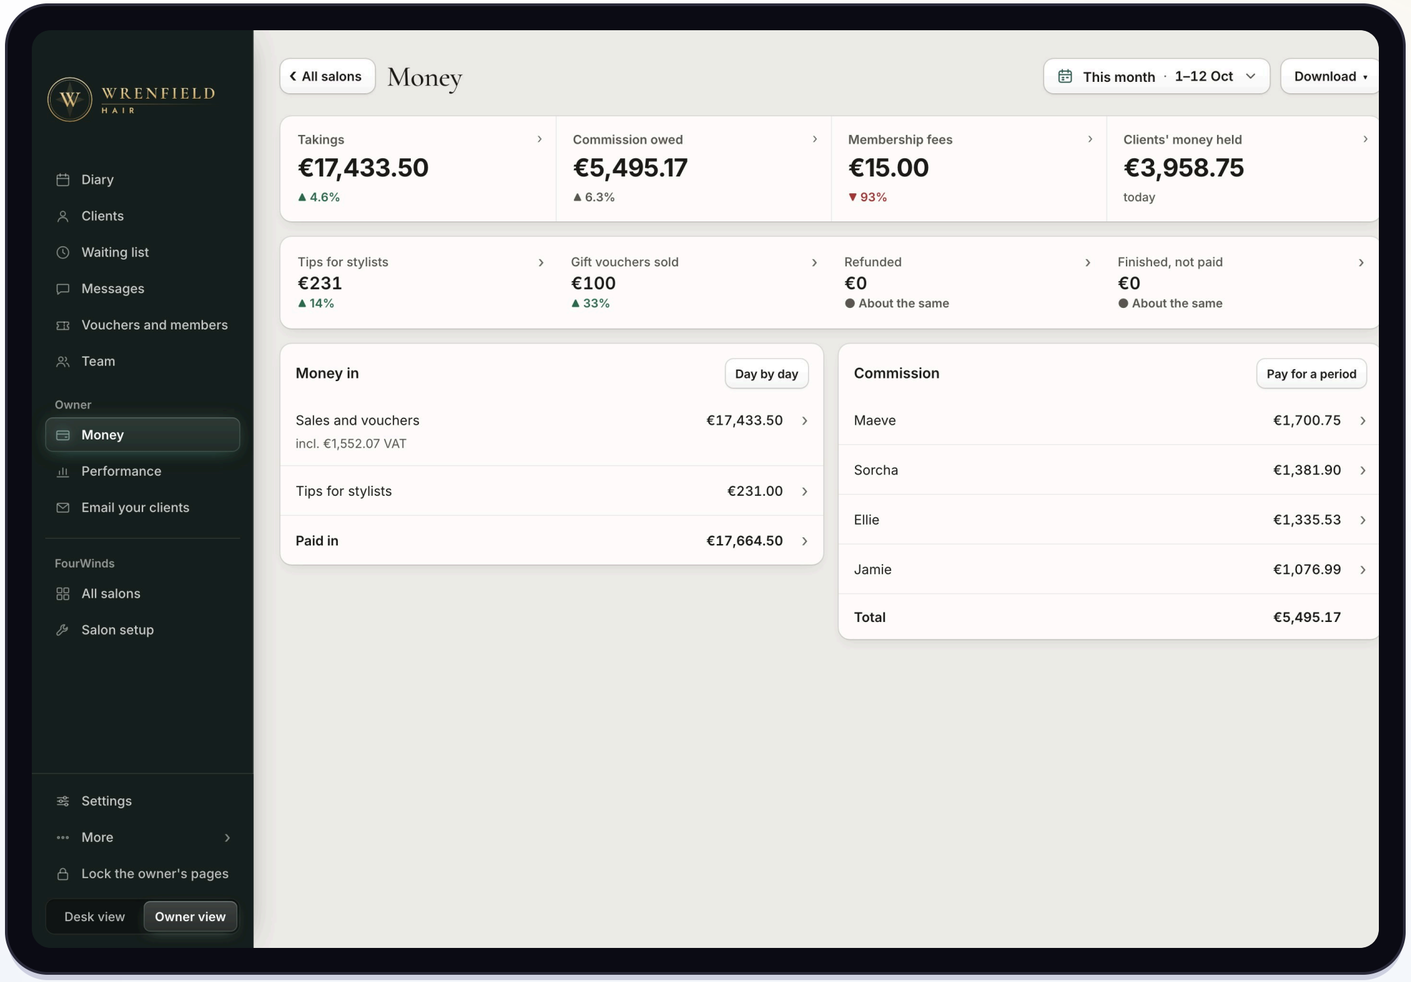

FOR THE OWNER

The money, ready for the accountant.

Takings, VAT, tips, commission and clients' money held, for any dates.

Tips

- A tip added at the till is recorded against the stylist it is for.
- It is kept apart from the salon's sales, and no VAT is charged on it.
- The pay report shows each stylist's tips for the period, ready for the payroll file.
- In Xero or QuickBooks, tips go to an account for tips owed to staff, not to sales, so your accountant sees money held for staff, not income.

WRENFIELD HAIR, A MADE-UP SALON

THE SPECIFICS

How it works.

WHAT	HOW IT WORKS
Devices	Any phone, tablet or computer, and installs like an app
Where it runs	Hosted in Ireland: the system in Dublin, its database in Ireland
Payments	Paid into your Stripe or bank account; the money goes straight to you
Cards	Taken on Stripe's own page; no card number touches our system
Your address	book.yoursalon.ie, or a page on your current site
VAT	The Irish rate for each bill's date, so a rate change applies on its first day
Gift vouchers	Valid for at least five years, as the law requires, with what is still owed kept
Client consent	Every yes to offers kept with the date and how it was given

Setup, your client list and your booking page on your own address are done by us.

COMPARED WITH PHOREST, FRESHA, BOOKSY AND TREATWELL

Every feature, in every plan.

	HOW THE PRICE IS SET	PAID EXTRAS ON TOP	CONTRACT
FourWinds	One monthly price per site, by the size of the team: one stylist, two to five, or six and more. It does not go up past the sixth.	None. Every feature on this page comes with every plan.	Month to month.
Phorest	Quoted per location, for any number of staff. No price is published.	A branded booking app, loyalty, memberships and two-way texts are listed as optional below Elite, the top plan.	A year at a time, renewing automatically unless you give written notice two months before the year ends.
Fresha	A monthly fee for each bookable team member.	Add-ons priced separately, among them client loyalty, a website, an AI concierge and a data connector.	Monthly, cancelled at any time.
Booksy	A monthly fee, plus a fee for each extra team member.	None. One plan with every feature.	Monthly, cancelled at any time.
Treatwell	Two plans. Their prices are not published.	The till and product sales come with the Advanced plan, not Freelancer.	Set in each salon's own agreement. Its published terms let a salon end it on 30 days' notice.

Taken from each company's own pricing page, terms or help centre, read between 20 September and 1 October 2026. Every source is linked at fourwindsdigital.com/salons.

COMPARED WITH PHOREST, FRESHA, BOOKSY AND TREATWELL

Your own website, and your records to keep.

	WHERE CLIENTS BOOK	SETTING UP	TAKING YOUR RECORDS WITH YOU
FourWinds	A booking page on your own web address, such as book.yoursalon.ie, in your colours and typeface.	We set it up for you: your menu, prices by stylist level, team, hours and look, and your client list from your current system's export, with a dry run first. The setup fee is quoted per salon.	Everything in one download, whenever the owner asks: clients, visits, colour formulas, bills, vouchers, messages, staff and stock.
Phorest	Phorest's booking page, with your brand colour on its buttons, linked from your site.	Set up for you on every plan: services, staff, rooms, equipment and products, with client records moved across by its migration team.	On leaving, a backup if you ask in writing within 30 days and have paid every fee, at your expense.
Fresha	Your profile on the Fresha marketplace, linked from your website and social pages.	Client details and stock can be imported. More migration help is a paid package for larger businesses.	The client list and appointment lists, exported from its screens. Its data connector is a paid add-on.
Booksy	Your Booksy profile, which Booksy calls your website, with booking buttons for Google and social media.	Booksy guides you through setup.	A copy of the client list.
Treatwell	Your shopfront on the Treatwell marketplace, with Book Now buttons for your site and social pages.	Its customer service team imports the basic data and technical notes from your old system.	A download of the client list.

Taken from each company's own pricing page, terms or help centre, read between 20 September and 1 October 2026. Every source is linked at fourwindsdigital.com/salons.

LOOKED AFTER

Kept up to date by us.

Included

Updates included

Every salon runs on the same system, so each improvement reaches yours as soon as it is released, at no extra cost.

Every release

Tested before release

Every release runs through the full automated test suite before it goes live, and is checked again once it is.

Around the clock

Checked every 15 minutes

A separate system asks yours for services and times the way the booking page does, and alerts us the moment it does not answer.

MOVING ACROSS

We move you over.

1

We set your salon up

Menu, prices by stylist level, team, hours and look.

2

Your client list comes across

From your current system's export: names, contacts, notes and marketing consent.

3

Your booking page goes live

On your own address, such as book.yoursalon.ie.

4

The salon runs the day

On the desk, a tablet or a stylist's own phone.

Visit history, colour formulas and patch tests are not in any system's export. Before anything is imported, a dry run shows what is coming across and what is not.

TRY IT

Book a test appointment.

Wrenfield Hair is a made-up salon on the same system, cleared every night. The diary, the till and the owner's screens we show you on a call.

Priced per salon. Ask us for a quote for your sites and stylists.
